Analyze and Improve Your Pursuits

Police pursuits are a constantly evolving part of police work. Split-second decisions about when to pursue, how to pursue, and how to terminate pursuits can have far-reaching consequences.

Improve your department's outcomes — join Pursuits, the police pursuits database.

Pursuits is a vital, database-driven resource for law enforcement agencies empowering command staff and supervisors to make better pursuit-related decisions based on hard data.

Log in to analyze pursuits and improve policy.

By recording and analyzing ongoing pursuit data, departments are able to identify pursuit trends and potential problems. The database provides information that will help you develop effective pursuit policies and train staff for safer pursuits.

Pursuits is a secure, online database that standardizes pursuit reporting across 30 data fields including speed, suspect information, and termination reason, allowing participating agencies to identify trends on the local, state, or national level. Command staff can record and analyze data over time and compare it to national figures, trends, and jurisdiction parameters.

Participation in Pursuits® enables you to

- Mitigate pursuit-related risk
- Reduce departmental liability
- Ensure compliance
- Achieve accreditation requirements

Effective policies protect officers, communities, and departments.

Pursuits helps you improve policies to reduce pursuit-related risk to officers and communities and helps you manage liabilities associated with pursuits. Demonstrating that your department possesses effective policies, and comparing your agency's data to past pursuits and national averages, may help improve outcomes when you're faced with civil litigation and in public communications.

Benefit from years of pursuit data. Pursuits is the largest national repository of pursuit data of its kind, archiving more than 17,000 records. LogIn, working with the International Association of Chiefs of Police and experts from law enforcement agencies, launched Pursuits in 2001. LogIn has more than 25 years of experience providing secure, private networks for law enforcement professionals.

Pursuits is the streamlined and effective way to manage your department's pursuits, and obtain critical data to enhance decision making. For information on how to participate in Pursuits, contact LogIn at 800.328.1921 or pursuits@login-inc.com.
